Moses was born during a time when baby boys were in danger. To protect him, his mother hid him at home for as long as she could.

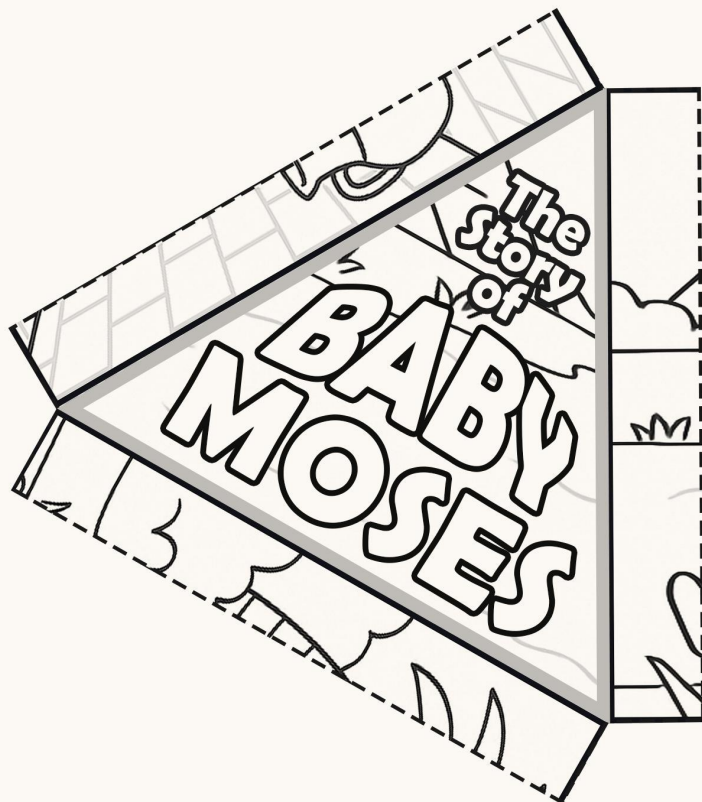

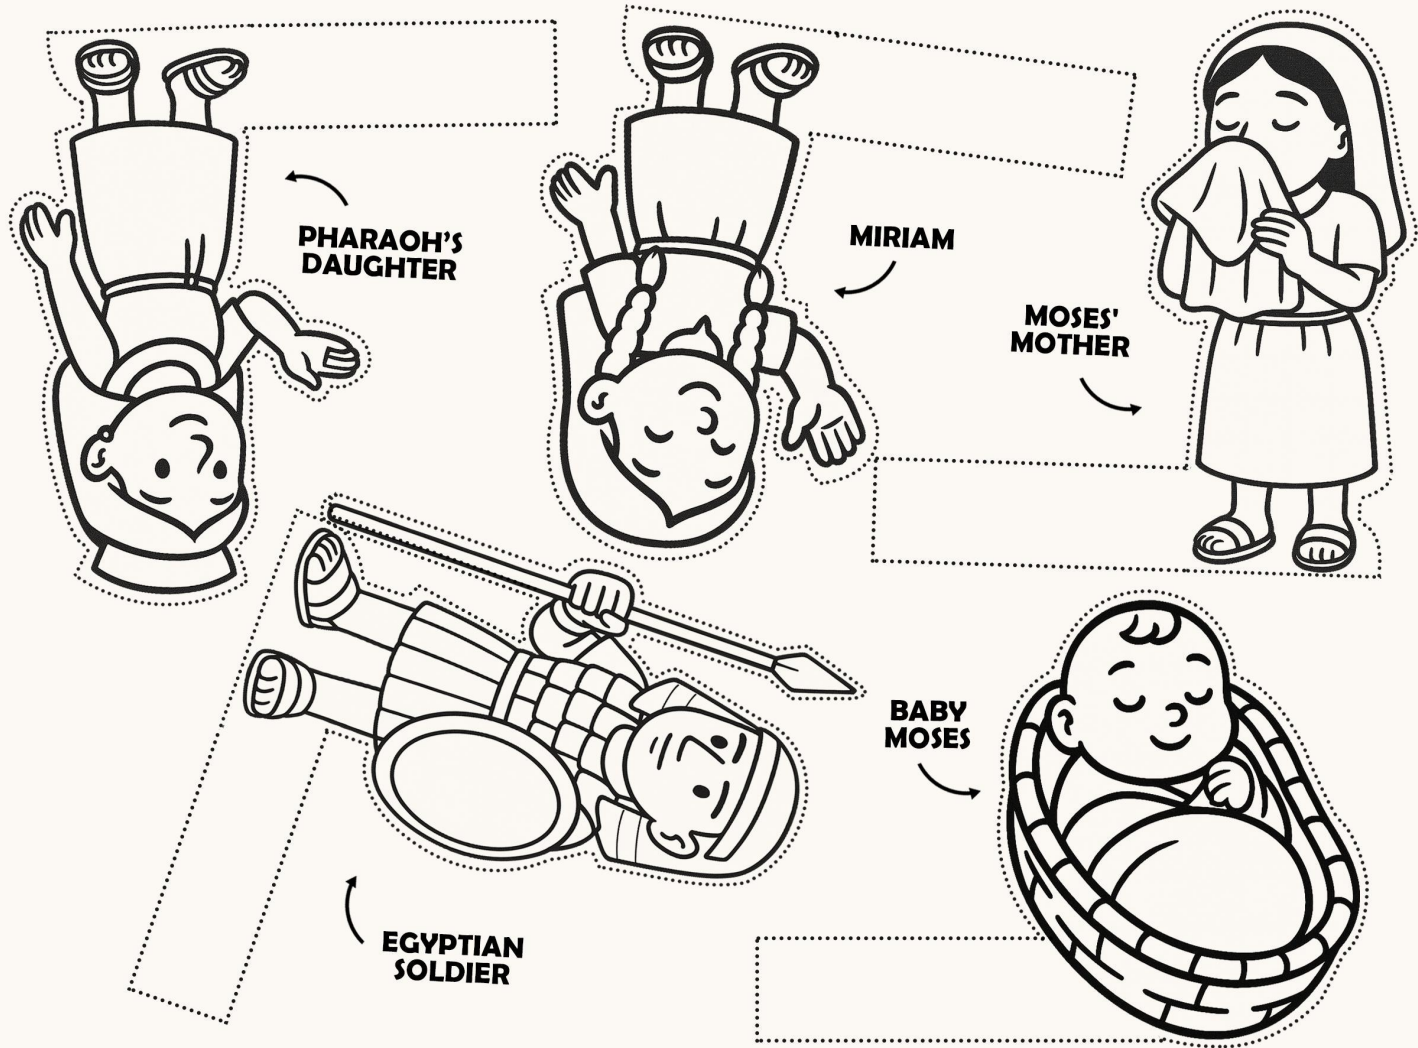

When she could no longer hide him, Moses' mother placed him in a basket and set it among the reeds of the Nile. Miriam stood nearby to watch what would happen.

Pharaoh's daughter discovered the basket while bathing in the river. Moved with compassion, she chose to raise Moses as her son. Miriam offered to find a nurse, and Moses' own mother cared for him until he was brought to the palace.
